New Jersey Lottery

The Lottery is so much more than just jackpots.

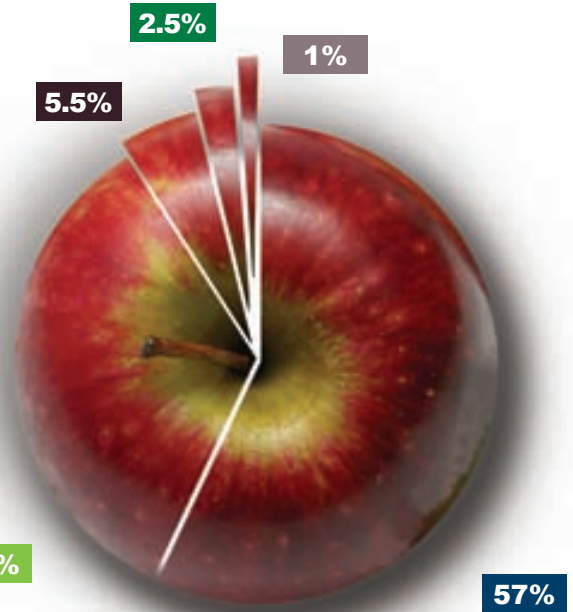

It's about helping to feed nutritious meals to young schoolchildren and providing scholarships to high school students. It's about improving the quality of life for disabled veterans and developmentally disabled individuals.

As one of the most cost-efficient lotteries in the United States, the New Jersey Lottery spends approximately one percent of its revenues to operate its business. As the State's fourth largest revenue producer, the Lottery raised over $2.5 billion in sales for Fiscal Year 2008 and was able to contribute more than $882 million to the State to help fund education and institutions, making everyone in the Garden State a winner.

Since its inception nearly forty years ago, the Lottery has dedicated over $17.2 billion to programs that benefit millions of New Jersey residents. Educational opportunity programs, the Department of Human Services, the Department of Military and Veterans Affairs, the Division of Food and Nutrition, and the Marie Katzenbach School for the Deaf are just a few of the organizations and programs whose constituencies benefit from Lottery proceeds.

The New Jersey Lottery also plays a key role in supporting small businesses throughout the State. Over 6,100 businesses serve as Lottery retailers and act as a direct link between the Lottery and its players.

Retailers earn five percent of their Lottery ticket sales in the form of commissions. Last fiscal year, the Lottery returned over $141.3 million in commissions to support chain stores, supermarkets, pharmacies, convenience stores and other small businesses throughout the State.
